

JOINING HANDS for a BETTER FUTURE

-WOUNDSCAPES- TENSION WITH NEW GEOGRAPHY

New York, beginning of the XXth century. This European family has just arrived in America leaving behind their country, their family and friends, their language and way of life... possibly for ever.

Can you imagine yourself in the woman's situation? May be she is illiterate, but with the help of a friend (you are that friend) she was able to write a letter home telling them of her feelings, hopes and despairs, at the very start of her new life.

Dear diary, I am writing because I would like to know that we are really good in America, and also to express some anxieties about that.

Here everything is different: the tradition, the people... One of the most interesting things is the hospitality and the charm of the people.

The kids quickly have found their place, and know they've got lots of friends. They feel like home. The next week they will start school.

The only problem we found is the language, because with some persons, but we've met Hannah, a really nice girl who is helping us a bit.

Also is really difficult to live far our family, but I want you to know that in a short time we will go to make a visit and you can come whenever you want. If you came, you would learn lots of things for your life and you would grow as a person.

Maria